

The Business Olympian Open Program

Tipping Point Leadership Program

Leaders can use a four step process to bring about rapid, dramatic and lasting change with limited resources. The four hurdles to overcome are:

The COGNITIVE hurdle

The RESOURCE hurdle

The MOTIVATIONAL hurdle

The POLITICAL hurdle

Essential program for current leaders or those aspiring for promotion

Date: Friday 30th October
Time: 9am to 4pm
Venue: Champion Room – MSAC
Albert Park

This full day programme explores the hurdles to change and how we can overcome each of them. We are all driven by different needs and it is by the understanding these needs that enable change agents to be successful. Tipping point leadership provides you with the skills to take on any situation and be confident that the process you put in place will be effective. The theory of tipping points, which has its roots in epidemiology, hinges on the insight that in any organisation, once the beliefs and energies of a critical mass of people are engaged, conversion to a new idea will spread like an epidemic, bringing about fundamental change very quickly and at low cost.

Who is The Business Olympian?

Since 2001, The Business Olympian has brought Corporate Australia the secrets elite athletes have known for years, have used to attain their full potential and achieve the greatness they have trained so hard for. Now you can learn their secrets!

The day will be presented by Gavin Freeman, who after 12 years working with our Olympic teams as well as Senior Managers and CEO's of Corporate Australia authored the "Business Olympian". His experience and research is at the cutting edge of innovative thinking and his methods will challenge you to look within and find the champion inside.
